We will first travel to the Los Angeles Museum of Tolerance to understand overall discrimination from another viewpoint of Judaic culture in the 1940's. Using this we will discuss how that same discrimination had occurred 60 years earlier in the US via the Indian Wars. This discussion should help us in understanding hatred and discrimination occurring in the past and in the present.

The second half of our field trip will be a tour of the UCLA campus. UCLA has a strong American Indian program and has worked in conjunction with our program previously. We look forward in seeing our counterparts at UCLA.
